City Hospital Condemned and Ordered to Be Closed

When the delegation from the City Council accompanied by the Reeves and the Councilors in the Municipal District of Bigstone and Bigstone interviewed the Department of Health last Thursday in regard to the inspection and report of the Wetaskiwin hospital recently, the following order was presented to His Worship Mayor Howatt:

To the owner and occupier of the Wetaskiwin City Hospital, situate on the corner of Railway Street West and Lansdowne Ave. in the Province of Alberta:

The undersigned has inspected the above hospital on the 11th day of June, A.D. 1931, under the provisions of Sec. 19 of the Fire Prevention Act and has found the following:

That the building is in such a condition that the rapid spread of fire to other buildings or structures might reasonably be anticipated and by reason of disrepair, age and dilapidated condition, is especially liable to fire, which by its present occupancy makes it a serious hazard to life and property.

You, His Worship Mayor Howatt, of the above-mentioned City of Wetaskiwin, are therefore hereby ordered and directed to alter the occupancy of the building, structure or place of that part now used as a hospital, on or before the 9th day of September, 1931, and is further directed that the cost of complying with this order shall be finally borne by the City of Wetaskiwin, the Municipal District of Bigstone and the Municipal District of Bigstone.

Dated at Edmonton in the Province of Alberta, this 9th day of July, 1931.

RALPH E. MOORE,
Inspector under the Fire Prevention Act.

On Thursday evening last, immediately upon the return of the delegation from Edmonton, a special meeting of the three municipalities concerned was held in the Council Chambers, at which Mayor Howatt and four Aldermen of the city, Reeves Ballhorn and four Councilors of the Municipal District of Bigstone, and Reeves Arnold and four Councilors of the Municipal District of Bigstone were present. Mayor Howatt was chairman, and reported the interview which had taken place that afternoon with the Hon. George Howatt and other members of the Cabinet respecting the hospital situation in Wetaskiwin, and at the same time read the above letter showing the attitude taken by the Department in this respect. His Worship intimated that he would have no hesitation whatever in ordering the Wetaskiwin hospital closed, and thereby removing the personal liability of every member of the City Council. There was no question in his mind that the present building could not be remodelled, and used for hospital purposes, and the only other alternative was a new structure. The Department was determined to close the present hospital at the expiration of three months, unless in the meantime good progress was made in procuring new premises.

Ald. Ellis, chairman of the Hospital Board, also gave a report of the interview, and stated the responsibility as at present rested with the three municipalities mentioned, that the only difficulty which might arise would be in apportioning the costs to the Municipalities. Information had been given to the Department, and it is expected that in a few days information will be forthcoming as to the system suggested by the Department for financing the proposition, and at the same time it will likely be stated what the cost would be to the individual ratepayer in the proposed hospital area.

After a general discussion in which different phases of the question were reviewed, it was unanimously agreed by all the representatives present that the three districts enter into an agreement to build the new hospital under plans outlined in the interview held in Edmonton on Thursday last.

Another resolution was unanimously carried to the effect that the rate to be charged in the new hospital be $2 per day in the public wards with free operating room.

Another resolution was to the effect that half rate be charged the town cases when a number of operations could be performed at the same time.

$180,000 DAMAGE AS CYCLONE SWEEPS NORTH BATTELFORE

North Battleford, Sask., July 11.—Storm-wrecked North Battleford Saturday surveyed disastrous streets, reflecting damage of more than $180,000, caused by a sudden cyclone, this Friday.

Scores of workers were busy clearing paths through debris of torn-down roofs, shattered walls, upturned buildings and battered motor-cars left in the wake of the 45-minute twister.

Not a life was lost and no serious injuries were reported, but townsfolk of the little settlement on the banks of the Saskatchewan River, 80 miles northwest of Saskatoon, shuddered in their cellars while the storm raged. The cyclone broke out of nowhere at 5:00 o'clock in the afternoon, ended as suddenly as it began, and was followed by an hour's torrential rain.

Extent of the damage was borne by the provincial power plant. The roof of the building was torn off, and the walls caved in, wrecking the main steam heater. One street was completely blocked with debris from wind-shattered buildings.

It had not been ascertained early Saturday whether nearby rural sections suffered in the storm, although in Battleford, across the river, trees were blown down and telephone poles leveled by the gale.

M.D. OF MONTGOMERY
HOLDS REGULAR MEETING

The regular meeting of the Council of the Municipal District of Montgomery was held in the Council office on Saturday, July 4th, with all the Councilors present.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted on the motion of Coun. E. Johnson.

The following correspondence was read:

Town Topics

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Nelson and daughter Mildred, of Camrose, were Wetaskiwin visitors on Monday.

Mrs. Geo. Long and her tonsils removed on Saturday last. Nurse Fitzner of Camrose, is attending her.

O. Ostrom of Cranbrook, B.C., is visiting with his father, Mr. Ostrom, and his sister, Mrs. Brookfield, in the city.

Miss Florence French left for Sylvan Lake on Monday, where she will attend the Provincial C.G.I.F. camp for ten days.

Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Hagstrom, Ed. and Walter Hagstrom, returned home from a motor trip to Calgary and Banff the first part of the week.

Mrs. W. C. Tibble and granddaughter Yvonne of Sumner, Iowa, are visiting the former's brother, Mr. E. E. Sears and family of the Verdun district.

Angus Cameron of Edmonton, who has been visiting friends in the Verdun district, returned home on Tuesday. He was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Widen.

Mr. and Mrs. George Smith and daughter returned this week from an enjoyable holiday spent with friends at Seattle, Vancouver and other points at the coast.

Mr. and Mrs. Davidson of Calgary, spent several days of last week with the latter's sister, Mrs. A. Aranson. Mrs. Aranson and daughter returned with them to Calgary, where they will visit for some time.

Rev. Dr. Lake of Portland, Ore., and G. Calvin Peterson of the Prophetic Society, London, England, were in the city on Wednesday. They are making a series of lectures throughout the province, and are putting on a campaign in the interests of the F. O. C. League.

The party who entered a garden on Pearce Street, west on Thursday evening last, stole nine peonies was observed in the act. The next time this party wishes flowers, it would be very much better to make a request for same, which will be generously granted.

NO SPECIAL SESSION OF ALBERTA LEGISLATURE

Edmonton, July 14.—There is little likelihood of a special session of the Legislature being called to deal with Wheat Pool and unemployment problems as advocated by D. M. Dugan, provincial Conservative leader, it is remarked by Premier J. E. Brownlee on Monday can be taken as an indication.

Orange Celebration Is a Great Success

It was estimated that about five hundred Orangemen and members of the O.E.A. representing some twenty-five lodges in Central Alberta, congregated here on Monday last, and fittingly celebrated the glorious 12th of July. This was the 101st anniversary of this important event celebrated in Canada. The first event was a monster parade, which left the U.F.A. hall about noon headed by Frank Lyons mounted on a white charger, and the banners and flags of the different lodges made a very beautiful and imposing sight.

The Coal Lake Juvenile Band and the Wetaskiwin Citizens Band dispensed suitable music during the march and rendered many selections on the grounds, which were greatly enjoyed. Prizes were given for the best appearing L.O.B.A. and the best L.O.L. turnout in the procession, the former being won by the Wetaskiwin Lodge and the latter by Camrose.

Mr. Barclay of Camrose acted in the capacity of chairman for the address and the first speaker was His Worship Mayor Howatt, who extended the heartiest welcome to the host of visitors. In his brief remarks he stated that we have in our midst, organizations which are anxious to disrupt government; radicalism is rampant, and even some men in their madhouses are talking about secession. If we wish to remain free we must stand as firm as the Rock of Gibraltar against those who are trying to destroy us regardless of what we may have to endure in so doing. If we lose our liberty all is gone.

The Right Worshipful Grand Master Donald McNabb of Lethbridge was then called upon and he referred

SCHOOL LANDS FUND WILL YIELD ELEVEN MILLION TO ALBERTA

Edmonton, July 9.—Nearly $10,000,000 in provincial assets, with almost $500,000 a year in interest for three years, will be coming to Alberta as a result of the School Lands Funds case.

Hon. R. G. Reid, provincial treasurer, has been advised from Ottawa that the Dominion government has issued a three-year debenture for $5,564,559, bearing interest at 5 per cent, until July 1, 1934, payable half-yearly.

The debenture thus issued to Alberta's credit represents accumulated principal moneys from the sale of school lands since the organization of the province in 1905. All funds from this source have heretofore been handed by the Dominion, which has retained the principal and paid interest to the province. With the transfer of the natural resources from Dominion to provincial control the school lands funds now pass to the province as part of the public domain.

BAN AGAINST SLOT MACHINES FORECAST

Edmonton, July 11.—Slot machines and gambling devices of that order will shortly come under the law, the government having decided to proclaim the act standing on the statute books, but never yet put into operation, by which the right is given to abolish such contrivances entirely. The act will go into effect as from September 1.

MA-NE-O BEACH

The cottages are all full at the beach now.

There are about 15 girls camped close to Woods' store in tents.

There are eleven new cottages on the beach this season.

Mr. Barclay and Mrs. Barclay of Edmonton are visiting with Mrs. Barclay at Maxlin.

Mr. and Mrs. Hanson and family are occupying the H. R. French cottage.

Miss Helen Shantz, Mrs. A. Franzen and Master Ben Shantz are guests of Mrs. Baker at We-ask-in cottage. Drive fast along our beach and give the gals a wave a traffic police.

So beware!

The dance hall is open in the evenings and gives the young folks something to do.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cook and family are camping in the Williamson cottage.

Mrs. George Ortlieb of Winnipeg, is at the beach with her mother, Mrs. J. H. Walker.

Weddings

JACKSON—FONTAINE

A quiet wedding was solemnized at Zion Lutheran Church on Tuesday, July 14th, when Harold Lee Jackson, son of I. M. C. Jackson, and Gladys Fontaine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. Fontaine, were united in marriage. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. Appelt. The bride was charming in a gown of white crepe. She wore a veil and carried a bouquet of roses and lilies. The couple were attended by Mr. and Mrs. George Fontaine and Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Fontaine. After the ceremony, a sumptuous dinner was served at the home of the bride's parents. The happy couple left on a honeymoon trip and on their return will make their home in Wetaskiwin.

NELSON—WAGAR

A quiet wedding took place in Edmonton at the home of the bride's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Telford, when Ruby Isabelle, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Wagar, and Clarence C. Nelson, son of Mrs. Mary Nelson, both of Wetaskiwin, were united the holy bonds of matrimony at noon on Wednesday, July 15th, by Rev. A. E. Black. The bride wore a dress of powder blue flat crepe with touches of white and a necklace of pearls, the gift of the bridegroom, and sea-sand shoes with bows and gloves to match. Her coat was black broadcloth trimmed with mink and she wore a brown anglo-brim hat. Miss Frances Nelson, sister of the groom, in white crepe-de-chene with white shoes and hose, made a charming bridesmaid. The groom was attended by Robert Wagar, brother of the bride. The gift of the bridegroom to the bridesmaid was a gold bar pin, and to the best man a pair of gold cuff links.

Immediately after the ceremony the bridal party motored to Wetaskiwin, where a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents at 9 o'clock. The rooms were tastefully decorated in pale blue and white and a profusion of flowers supplied by Mrs. Geo. L. Owen. The table was centred with the beautiful wedding cake, which had been decorated by Mr. G. W. Malmes. A delicious buffet luncheon was served to over fifty guests by Mrs. G. W. Malmes, assisted by the Misses Gladys Nelson, Leonora and Alice Granger, Blanche Van Volkenburg and Betty Emerson.

Mrs. John Elder and Mrs. Arthur Nelson shared the honors of the tea table. Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sheets, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Granger and family of Oshawa; Mrs. George Telford, Ralph and Lloyd Telford of Edmonton; Mr. and Mrs. Van Volkenburg and family, Mr. and Mrs. John Elder and Betty and Mr. Lyle Elder of Millet; Mrs. (Continued on Page 8)

REV. A. L. ELLIOTT INDUCTED AS PASTOR AT MACLEOD

Last Friday evening, July 3rd, the Rev. A. L. Elliott, M.A., B.D., recently of Wetaskiwin, was inducted as pastor of the Macleod United Church. The service was in charge of the Rev. Roy Taylor, B.D., of North Lethbridge, who opened the service with the induction prayer and the singing of an old familiar hymn. Rev. Norman Whitmore, B.A., of Pincher Creek, delivered the induction sermon, stressing his text "Ye are the Light of the World, Go Forth and Preach the Gospel." Rev. Taylor offered an earnest prayer, and Rev. J. M. Pritchard, B.A., B.D., of Lethbridge addressed the minister to be inducted on "Our Great Responsibility." The singing of "God Send Us Men" was followed by a strong message to the congregation on their responsibility delivered by Rev. John L. Wright. Rev. Elliott pronounced the benediction.

Rev. A. L. Elliott, M.A., B.D., comes highly recommended by the previous congregation, in Wetaskiwin, where he has been preaching for nine years, first at a Presbyterian minister for three years, and the following six years in the United Church. It was the wish of the people of Wetaskiwin for him to remain longer, but he desired a change, and came to Macleod. Rev. Elliott came from near Belleville, Ontario, with his parents to Manitoba, attended Manitoba College, and after his graduation held his first church in Melita, Presbyterian, when he was called to Wetaskiwin. He is quite delighted with Southern Alberta and can see plenty of work to do among the people here. He is accompanied by his wife, and two boys, who are very active in the church and sports life of the community. (Continued on Page 8)

MRS. LOUISE MCKINNEY DIED AT HOME IN CLARESHOLM

One of Alberta's outstanding leaders in women's work was removed Friday when the death of Mrs. Louise C. McKinney occurred at her home in Clareholm, after a short illness. The late Mrs. McKinney had the distinction of being the first woman to take a seat in an Empire legislative assembly, being elected to represent the constituency of Clareholm in June, 1917, and taking her seat at Edmonton some months prior to the entrance of Miss Roberta MacAdams, who was elected as an overseas member of the provincial assembly. Mrs. McKinney was president of the Dominion W.C.T.U., an organization in which she took a leading part for more than 25 years. She was one of the five Alberta women who appealed to the Privy Council for the right of women to a seat in the Senate of Canada.

LOCAL BANDS RENDER GOOD MUSIC AT CELEBRATION

The Wetaskiwin Citizens' Band and the Coal Lake Juvenile Band rendered excellent music during the day at the Orangemen's celebration on Monday last, and the high standard of these two musical organizations was favorably commended on by many of the visitors. The players of these bands have made a great personal sacrifice attending rehearsals and in other ways for the betterment of the community and are worthy of the best support that the district can give them. Carl Jerve, the leader of the Coal Lake Band has made an outstanding success of that organization, and the Wetaskiwin band under the leadership of Ed. Dickau who has recently elected to that responsible position, has many experienced musicians and it might be reasonably expected that this band will become one of the best in central Alberta in course of time. The personnel of the Wetaskiwin band is: Leader, Ed. Dickau; clarinet, C. Gouche; cornets, J. Smith, H. Switzer, D. Miller, E. Scheeler, R. Hodson; alto, C. Dickau; trombone, C. Spencer; J. W. W. Hodson; baritone, L. Thorne; bass, Ed. Dickau, F. L. Thorne; traps, M. McRuer, P. Atkinson, Chas. Kolb.

Two canvases by Gilbert Stuart, United States painter, realized their owner $12,505 Tuesday. He bought the pictures for $50.

This has been a fairly heavy week for our football team. On July 8th, the team travelled to Ponoka to meet the locals there in the Central Alberta league. A very hard fought game resulted, which was watched by a good crowd of spectators. The play was very fast and both ends were frequently visited. The defence, however, was very sound. Skoog for Wetaskiwin and Splak for Ponoka being especially prominent. Both sets of half backs too, were playing a great spotting game, and the forwards found little opportunity to score. Halftime found the score sheet blank. The second half was very much the same, the respective defenses being able to nullify all the effort of the forwards. During this half, Mitchell for Ponoka put the ball into the net, but as the whistle had previously gone for offside, no score resulted. Both teams tried hard for the winning goal, but the defence held out and the final whistle found the score sheet still blank. Wetaskiwin, 0; Ponoka, 0.

On Friday the 10th, Lacombe entertained our team, league points again being at stake. Wetaskiwin started off with a great rush and very soon were a goal up, a shot from E. Lee beating the goalie. This was followed by one from R. Wallis, and a third from a header by A. Lodgest. The pich was very slippery from a recent shower and the players found it difficult to keep their footing. As the score indicates Wetaskiwin had a decided edge on the play, and halftime arrived with the boys leading 3-0. Immediately after the resumption, R. Wallis increased the lead with a first time shot, and the Wetaskiwin players continued to put great pressure on the Lacombe defence. Toward the end of the period E. Lee again scored following a corner, and full time arrived with the score Wetaskiwin 5, Lacombe 0.

The return game between these teams was scheduled for Monday night, bringing to a close the sports on Orange day. Unfortunately a heavy rain spoiled the game and also the attendance. The game being played in a steady downpour, soaking players and the few enthusiastic spectators alike. Good football was out of the question as it was difficult to obtain footing, and the ball being so wet and heavy was almost impossible to control. In spite of these disadvantages the teams put up a good display, the home team combining to great advantage. J. Jeffries scored the first goal with a good shot, E. Lee following after the goalie had failed to clear a shot. R. Wallis also scored in this half, making the score 3-0 at halftime. Lacombe scored soon after the interval. Trebleven falling to hold the wet greasy ball and allowing it to cross the line before clearing. Goals for the home team were scored during this half by R. Wallis, R. Dixon and E. Lee, bringing the total up to 6. The highest score recorded in the league to date. Full time score, Wetaskiwin 6, Lacombe 1.

Wetaskiwin have to play Red Deer on Thursday of this week, away from home, but this game will have no bearing on the league winners as Ponoka were only able to draw with Red Deer on Tuesday night, and this places Wetaskiwin at the top of the league and winners of the shield.

Next week the cup games commence, the locals being drawn either against Ponoka or Red Deer in the Red Deer Vet's Cup. The game will be played on Wednesday, the 22nd, at Wetaskiwin. A good game is assured and we hope a large crowd will be on hand to witness the game. Kickoff at 7:30 p.m. On the 30th the boys have to meet Red Deer away, in the Lacombe Cup, and on the 31st Lacombe come here in the Ponoka Cup. Finals for these cups are to be played in the respective towns on their Fair days. Red Deer, July 25th, Lacombe July 28th, and Ponoka August 6th. It is hoped next year we will have a "Wetaskiwin Cup" for competition.

PREVALENCE OF SUICIDE CAUSES INSURANCE CO'S TO TURN DOWN BUSINESS

Canadian insurance companies are turning down millions of dollars worth of business these days. The higher the figure, the more likely they are to turn it down. One company, visited recently, had turned down re-insurance in two policies totalling $3,000,000, that very afternoon. Another company turned down a $20,000 policy on a Canadian business man the same day although the man was an excellent risk as far as his health was concerned.

The reason for this apparently unusual procedure is "self-protection," says the Canadian life companies. In the past 15 months, while in the United States the situation is said to have become nothing short of alarming. One big Canadian company reports its suicide claims rose to about 4 per cent of the total last year, while a United States company which writes a large volume of industrial insurance and would not be expected to have a large suicide mortality on that account, lost six out of every 100 claims from suicide. Accordingly steps are being taken both here and in the United States to curb amounts of life insurance that may be written on one life and to bring into force other regulations to prevent further losses from this hazard.

Losses to Canadian companies come chiefly as a reflection of American reinsurance taken by Canadian companies, but also through direct experience and losses of Canadian companies, both here and in the U.S.A.

The "New Heroism" this has been called, whereby a business man or stock market operator who gets into financial difficulties, sees his way clear for making financial provision for his dependents through life insurance. It has caused insurance companies the loss of millions of dollars in recent months, especially those who have been writing policies out of all proportion to the amount of a man's income.

And it is in this relation of insurance to income that the crux of the situation, and probably the cure, is said to lie. Some Canadian companies are now enforcing with considerable rigidity, rules which govern definitely the amount of insurance which they will write on an individual risk, and which fix a fairly definite ratio between income and insurance—Financial Post.

ALBERTA AWAITING ACTION BY DOMINION ON HIGHWAY

Asked how the Alberta government stands on the trans-Canada highway scheme and when work will be commenced on it, Premier J. E. Brownlee Thursday said that no information has yet been received as to the policy of the dominion government in relation to the entire project. While there is an apparent impression that the federal policy has been decided and that delay in inaugurating a program of work lies therefore at the doors of the provincial government, the premier pointed out that nothing can be done until it is known what action the dominion will take.

On his recent trip east, Mr. Brownlee, through A. U. G. Barry, M.P. for Edmonton, interviewed Hon. R. J. Manion in regard to the matter but could get no assurance of what the government's policy would be. It was not possible, either, to ascertain whether the Alberta government would be given credit toward the cost of the work if it went on with its share of the route pending the final arrangement.

WHO'S WHO

(By Gee)

Horace A. Craig

MR. CRAIG, the vice-chairman of the Alberta Committee of the World's Grain Exhibition and Conference, is Deputy Minister of Agriculture for Alberta.

Born at North Gower, Ontario, in 1882, Mr. Craig received his education in the public and high schools of that Province; at the Ontario Agricultural College and the University of Toronto. In 1906 he was awarded a B.S.A. degree.

From 1906 to 1911 Mr. Craig was superintendent of fairs and institutes for the Province of Alberta, and from 1911 to 1915 superintendent of provincial fairs. He was appointed to the position of Deputy Minister of Agriculture in 1915.

Mr. Craig is a member of the Canadian Society of Technical Agriculture, as well as of numerous organizations interested in agricultural problems.

ments. And nothing has come through on either point since the premier's return.

Mr. Brownlee is hoping that the matter will be dealt with before the closing of the dominion house, as part of the general relief program, and that an early decision and an announcement may be looked for at an early date. The non-receipt of any definite information about the project is, however, the only reason, the premier says, why Alberta has not yet begun on its trans-Canada program.

TEARING OTHERS DOWN

No matter what your life work is or what you have to do, be careful that you tell the truth and let your life ring true. Let all your deeds be kind ones, on others do not frown. You cannot build yourself up by tearing others down.

If asked to speak of other men, apply with gentle grace. Remember that this world is large and all may find a place. For truthfulness and kind words resolve to gain renown. You cannot build yourself up by tearing others down.

When others do not treat you well and strive your name to blight, be not cast down, remember this: Truth always keeps the light. Resent not their evil deeds nor meet them with a frown. You cannot build yourself up by tearing others down.

By entertaining evil thoughts no good is ever gained. One unjust word with vile intent a thousand hearts have gained. Put then a bridle on your tongue for it is ever known, You cannot build yourself up by tearing others down.

Do unto others as you would have them do unto you. Forget ye not that others claim some rights as well as you. Let perfect truth and honesty your every effort crown. You cannot build yourself up by tearing others down.

In all your actions be sincere; of others speak no ill. If you have nothing good to say, 'tis better to keep still. Heed not the evil-speaker's tongue nor gossip of a town. You cannot build yourself up by tearing others down.

REMEMBERED THOSE OUT OF LUCK ON BIRTHDAY

"Pat" Burns, in response to what he regards the kindness of the people of Calgary, on the occasion of his 75th birthday, made what he terms a small expression of his deep appreciation, in the form of the distribution to 2,000 Calgary families in hard luck, of a 5-pound roast of beef apiece, and to 4,000 single unemployed men, a ticket which entitles them to one 50-cent meal in any restaurant in the city, or food to the value of 50 cents in any local store.

W.C.T.U.

There will be sorrow all over the world in many thousand hearts at the sudden death of Miss Anna Gordon, World's President of the W.C.T.U. She is succeeded by Mrs. Ella Boole of Brooklyn, N.Y., who, as vice-president, read her message to the World's Convention which met in Toronto in June, as Miss Gordon was then too ill to attend. A few sentences from what proved her farewell follows:

"In half a hundred leading nations, gentlemen whose badge is a simple knot of white ribbon, women of all races and all creeds, steadfastly follow the gleam toward a goal of world sobriety; world morality, and the universal outlawry of war. We affirm to the millions of earthly children made in the image of their Creator that alcohol is an arch-enemy of the human race, and neither by individuals nor by governments should it be treated as a friend or a business partner. We broadcast this fundamental truth—alcohol, whether found in brandy or whiskey, in beer or wine, is an enemy that must be vanquished."

"Peace has been one of the foundation principles of the W.C.T.U. from the beginning. We believe in the Briand Peace Pact, for the renunciation of war. We believe in the World Court. We are confident that that League of Nations is averting wars and promoting international understanding. We look forward to the disarmament conference in 1932, and hope it will mark another step forward in the campaign to delegatize war. We believe that every World W.C.T.U. Convention is a tribute to World Peace, because it increases world understanding and world friendship."

The official welcome to the 1300 delegates was given by the National President, Mrs. McKinney of Clearholm, Alberta.

Mrs. Palmer of Capetown, in a two minute address described the constructive temperance enterprise of her fellow-countrywomen who will encourage the use of raisins and unfermented grape juice to take the place of the wine-making industry.

Mrs. Hayman of Egypt, told of the statue in the public square in Cairo entitled "Egypt awakening," and behind the awakening of Egypt stands the "organized temperance forces of the W.C.T.U."

Mrs. Amor of Georgia, whose speed of speech has earned the name of the "Georgia Cyclone," gave a ringing message based on the benefits of prohibition which she had observed. She said: "The world is not told about prohibition in the newspapers. Wet propaganda is bought and paid for by alcohol capital. If the world once knew how many children now have clothes. If the world just knew how many children now have schooling because of prohibition, no power could keep the world wet."

An incident full of interest was the placing by the National Union in the name of the World Convention, of a wreath on the Cenotaph to honor those who fell in the Great War. The wreath was presented by Mrs. McKinney, while the crowd of delegates stood with bowed heads, and Mrs. Helen Barton of Scotland, placed a bouquet of lilies of the valley below the wreath in memory of the Scotch boys who fell in the service of the Empire.

THE BOY WHO DIDN'T PASS

A and faced little fellow sits alone in deep disgrace; There's a lump arising in his throat and tears drop down his face, He wandered from his playmates, for he doesn't want to hear Their shouts of merry laughter since the world has lost his cheer. He has sipped the cup of sorrow, he has dripped the bitter glass, And his heart is fairly breaking—he's the boy who didn't pass.

In the apple tree the robin sings a cheery little song, But he doesn't seem to hear it, showing plainly something's wrong; Comes his faithful little spaniel for a romp and bit of play, But the troubled little fellow bids him sternly go away.

And alone he sits in sorrow, with his hair a tangled mass, And his eyes are red with weeping—he's the boy who didn't pass.

Oh, you who boast a laughing son, and speak of him as bright, And you who love a little girl who comes to you at night

With shining eyes and dancing feet, with honors from her school, Turn to that lonely little lad who thinks he is a fool.

And take him kindly by the hand, the dullest of his class,

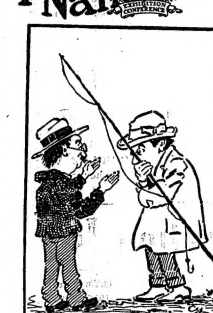

He is the one, who most needs love—the boy who didn't pass.

SIXTH FORTNIGHTLY CROP REPORT

(Issued by the Department of Agriculture, Province of Alberta, Edmonton, July 15th, 1931.)

According to the telegraphic reports received by the Department of Agriculture on Friday, rain has been fairly general over most of the Province during the past ten days. In some districts there was as much as eight inches in the month of June. The dry weather of the spring caused the early sown grain to head with short

World Beaters

CHAMPION of the world! Every country boasts of one champion in something or other.

Denmark has the world's champion wireless. Forty per cent of Danish families own wireless sets. The world's largest wireless station is at St. Asie in France. London, England, is the largest city in the world, but the greatest railway facilities are in Belgium, where there are more miles per unit of area than that of any other country. London, however, has become the flying university of the world. More than a hundred students from many foreign countries were trained there last year. Florida walk in Hamburg, 210 feet, and the Ring Strasse in Vienna, 185 feet.

The world's greatest Grain Exhibition and Conference will be held at Regina, Canada, in 1932, but probably the "daddy" of all the world beaters, at least from a novelty point of view, is the world's biggest drink.

It appears that three hundred years ago last year Rothenburg, Bavaria, was compelled to surrender to a besieging army. The general was about to issue orders for the destruction of the city. Women and children begged for mercy. The general retired to the Court House and while there became more favorably disposed towards those who pleaded with him. After drinking from an enormous flagon, he said, "If any of you senators can empty this jug in one draught I will spare your town." The challenge was accepted by the Burgomaster, the feat accomplished and the city saved. Ever since then, every day at noon, mechanical figures on the town hall clock repeat the performance. On the three hundredth anniversary, which came last year, the Burgomaster was called upon to repeat the feat in person. He raised the same old flagon to his lips and drank its contents in one long draught—probably the biggest drink on record. It contained three and a half quarts of beer.

"How do I keep my figure?"

"I eat Shredded Wheat but instead of cream I use whole milk—just as it comes from the bottle. That kind of meal gives me pep and strength. It's delicious and nourishing and easily digested. Sometimes for variety I add sliced bananas or other fruits, but I like it any way at all."

straw and rather thin stand. Later seedlings are stooling well, and all crops have greatly improved with the recent rains and warm growing weather.

In parts of the south and south-eastern central districts the heavy winds and dry weather during the month of May caused serious damage, so that the wheat in these areas will be a light crop. In the districts west and east of Edmonton to the Saskatchewan border and through the north-eastern area the crops show a heavy stand. From present prospects it would appear that this district will have one of the heaviest crops it has yet produced.

Good conditions exist through the north-western section. Crops north of the Peace show strong growth with about 30 per cent in head. South of the river more rain is needed, though nothing is suffering at present.

Grasshoppers have been active in small districts in Southern Alberta. The damage has not been extensive to date, owing to the fact that control measures have been adopted by the use of poison bait. Outcrops have done some damage in scattered areas.

Alfalfa cutting is under way in the irrigated districts of Southern Alberta and is a very excellent stand.

The hay crop generally will not be large. From prospects, however, there will be plenty of feed for live stock. The general crop prospect can be considered very fair.

His Face Was Covered With Sore Pimples

Mr. George Choverton, Renfrew, Ont., writes:—"My face was covered with sore pimples which no treatment I had tried would rid me of them. Then there came a day when a friend suggested I try Burdock Blood Bitters. Well, I did, and after the first bottle my face was fairly well cleared up of the pimples, and I was feeling that I had more life in me, and before the end of the second bottle I was like a different man; full of energy, and could eat, sleep and work like a young man of twenty-five should. I have the third bottle on hand, not that I need a tonic, but I intend to always take an occasional dose of B.B.B., as I want to keep the skin I have acquired with its help."

Figures Don't Lie

One swift flush of shame swept over her and then the floodgates of her wrath. She turned to watch his vanishing back as he entered the bathing pavilion. "You porpoise," she thought scathingly, "I'll make you notice me. I'll get even, if it takes all winter."

But it didn't take that long. That evening at the hotel she was introduced to a Mrs. Amidon, who later presented her brother, Don Stewart, the man whom Molly had vowed to conquer.

It wasn't until the second dance that he asked her where she came from, adding the gratuitous information that he was sick of New York and had decided to settle in a nice country town.

So Molly said she was from Chicago.

During her next dance when he reached question number three in the litany of first meetings, and inquired about her vocation, she very gravely told him that she wasn't doing anything, that season because she had broken an ankle while on the road with No. 2 company of "Sins of Susan" last summer. And she showed him the injured member, but it was apparent from his manner that he failed to find any flaw as a result of the unfortunate occurrence.

For a time Molly feared her dash into prevarication had been a bit too conspicuous, the amiable Mr. Stewart retreating into a sort of a shell that thrust up about him whenever she essayed to switch the conversation toward her personal existence. In fact, he appeared unaccountably distraught when she summoned up courage during the next-to-the-last dance and asked him what he did as a matter of daily bread.

"If I tell you," he whispered mysteriously, "will you promise never to tell my sister?" Without waiting for her breathless nod of consent, he plunged on in a confidential air. "You see I'm the black sheep of the family. They think I sell bonds or something, but I'm really manager for 'Socks' McGlone, the lightweight champion. For McGlone's sake keep it dark."

"Only a manager," she said with just that faint breath of scorn that devastates. "Haven't you fought for yourself?"

"Oh yes, of course. You know I could not manage one unless I knew something about it. Matter of fact I was lucky enough to win the mid-weight title in college."

His voice trailed off sadly. "I was badly smashed up in an auto wreck. It ended my hopes for a ring career. Tough break, wasn't it?"

"Very," assured Molly. "And where were you hurt?"

"Between the shoulder blades," he replied.

"What a strange place," she observed, "to be struck in an automobile."

"In an automobile wreck," he corrected blandly. "I was about running working on the road 'know'."

The waltz drifted off into a faint minor and died. Molly was devotedly thankful for the uprush of chatter and the handclapping. She was still stizz from the speed with which Mr. Stewart had come to life.

Mrs. Amidon paused in puzzled st-abductor swelled amidships. He was cursing at the top of his voice. No sound came from the silhouette.

Then abruptly it moved forward. A thin glint of moonlight picked out a tanned face. She saw an arm whip back and move forward like a piston.

There was a gasping sound and the 200 pounds of Willard Shopkins seemed to lift and curve backward, his heels dragging momentarily as he slipped gunwale before he fell spread-eagled into the choppy sea.

The victor was clambering across the motor toward her. Somewhere in their wake she visualized the pink face of her departed host.

"Get him," she demanded, "get him, he'll drown."

The approaching figure straightened. The eyes were like flames.

"I beg your pardon," he said stiffly. "I didn't know you cared. He bowed theatrically and dived over the side."

It took fully five minutes for Molly to get the tiller ropes untangled and bring the lumbering boat around. It took ten minutes more for her to creep back over the zigzag course and find them.

Mr. Shopkins was entirely unconscious of what was going on.

It was a tremendous task getting him on the landing stage. And Molly was of no earthly use. She could not stand on that left leg. But Stewart managed it.

Then having dumped the gentleman unceremoniously on the boards he looked long and intently at Molly and turned away.

She would have called him back but something gripped her throat and checked her. And it wasn't pride. She managed to drag herself to the side of the still form on the planks and push herself erect. By taking off of her shoes she found she could hop a little, then hobble a step, half for a rest, then repeat.

She had made half the distance to the walk when the rattle of shell and sand told her someone was coming. It was Stewart.

Without speaking he stepped beside her and picked her up. "I didn't know you were hurt," he explained.

"It's really my leg this time," she said. His cool wet arms felt like ice against the hot flesh of her shoulder. She pointed, "The left knee," she said and it seemed quite natural for him to close his long capable fingers over the tortured spot.

"Thank you for saving me," she said as he began the ascent of the beach. "But couldn't you have been a little pleasanter about it?"

"I didn't hurt him," he responded savagely. "I don't care if you did," she flared. "I'm talking about me. You hurt my feelings."

He stopped so suddenly that she thought he was going to drop her. But his arms gripped closer and one hand slid to her neck so that fingers raised her head very near to his own.

He appeared to be framing an apology. But he discarded the thought and looked sternly at her.

"Look here," he said, "before this thing goes any further we've got to have the truth. I lied to you."

"I know," she muttered, "you never saw Sock McGlone except from a ringside seat."

He looked his astonishment but forebore questioning her.

"And I never was hit by an automobile," he continued in a dead voice. Molly visualized the bulk of Mr. Shopkins flying backward over the road rails and grinned into the pro-teeting folds of Mr. Stewart's soaked and starry shirt.

"There was a long pause while he fumbled for words."

"And I'm not anything but a darned machine that juggles figures for a living."

"Is that all?" Molly asked after a decent interval.

The satiric head nodded grimly. "Well," he sighed, "I guess it's my turn."

She realized he was no longer walking.

"Am I too heavy?" she asked. He said nothing, but gripped her tighter.

"Well," she sighed again. "It's not true about 'Sins of Satan.' I wasn't in it. And there never was anything wrong with either of my legs—until now."

"No," he said absently. "I should say there wasn't."

Then he blushed. Molly could swear to that.

She said in a rush of confession, "I've got to tell you all the awful truth. I'm a terrible fake and I teach school for a living in a sleepy place called Groveport, Ind., and I ran away to go places and see things—and I'm a freak that insists on adding up every row of figures I see or hear—a tremulous sobbing sigh—and the darn things always come out right."

She wanted very much to sob openly on Mr. Stewart's broad shoulder, and she even turned her head to bury her face in his neck, but somehow or other his lips got in the way.

It was a very salty kiss, what with Molly's tears and the droops of Atlantic Ocean that dripped down from Mr. Stewart's brow. But it was also a very satisfying kiss.

"I thought you hated figures," Molly said in a small and buried voice, after a time.

"Not yours," he said, and then abruptly sat down with Molly on his knee and began fishing through the bedraggled pockets of his dinner jacket.

"Look," he commanded, spreading out two sheets of paper in the moonlight.

Dinly Molly could see the compelling figures of the whiskey gentleman "Dionysius Mills, president," who had barked at her in 30-point type black face in Groveport and driven her from home.

On the other sheet she saw the same figure with a new face, a clean shaven face with piercing black eyes. It was Mr. Don Stewart and beneath it she could discern the line "Dionysius Mills, Jr., President."

She gasped and he groaned. "Now," he said, "you know the worst. The directors think father's picture is too old-fashioned. They want young blood."

He cracked his knuckles furiously in despair. "And they have voted to put that thing in every magazine that goes to the morose of the world."

"I thought your name was Stewart," she said suddenly.

"It is," he answered. "D. Mills Stewart. We just left the last name off the advertisement to save the rest of the family from disgrace."

He leaped up so suddenly that Molly was catapulted into the sand. "I'll fool them," he almost yelled. "I'll tell out. Ethel's husband will take an opportunity right now. We'll be swung down and gathered Molly up again."

"We," he said commandingly, "will get married tomorrow and start our own business."

The moon went under and came out again before either could speak.

"We might," Molly suggested, "go back to Groveport and start an adding-machine business. Heaven knows they need one."

Ottawa Weekly Letter

(By W. Irvine, M.P. for Wetaskiwin)

Reasonable progress has been made in dealing with the business of Parliament, during the present week. There seems to be a disposition on the part of all Members to try and finish by the 30th of the month. The report as an appendix, Mr. Mackenzie King and others on the Opposition side contended that the Minister should have satisfied himself, by reading the report carefully, that it was in proper form for presentation to the House before it was tabled, and that if this had been done the offending appendix would have been removed. Answering this the Prime Minister contended that the Royal Commission Report should not be tampered with either by the Minister or the Government but should have been presented exactly as it was received, and this he did. But he added when it was subsequently shown that there was something in the Report which had no right to be there, then the Government had the right to take action, which it did by withdrawing the objectionable part of the report. The discussion on this matter occupied considerable time in the House, when the estimates of the Department of Trade and Commerce were up for consideration.

So far as I am aware, the tariff alterations in this year's Budget which will soon be before the Committee of the Whole is likely to be the most contentious matter with which the House will have to deal. No doubt several days will be required for its discussion.

W.C.T.U. ESSAY CONTEST

The following paper, written by Evelyn Verstraete, Grade V, won first prize in the essay contest recently conducted by the W.C.T.U.:

A conversation about cigarettes between two boys, one a smoker and one a non-smoker.

Tom was a clever and healthy-looking boy. Bob was his pale-faced looking class mate.

One afternoon as they walked down the street together, Bob said "Have a cigarette, Tom?"

"No thanks, I don't smoke," replied Tom.

"Well," said Bob, "Why not? You won't learn any younger."

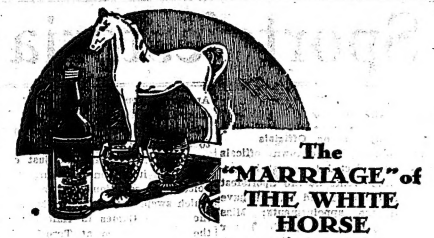

"I don't want to learn. Smoking is a bad habit and I don't like it," said Tom.

Then Bob answered "You are a big baby and afraid of being spoiled. All the fellows in our gang smoke."

Tom replied, "No, I'm not afraid of being spoiled. I don't want to be small like you are. Smoking stunts your growth, dulls your brain and makes you nervous. The reason I make higher marks in school than you do is because I don't smoke and you do. The nicotine in the cigarette injures the mind so that you can't learn as fast or think as clearly."

Bob then said "What good will all your high marks do you?"

"You see, Bob," answered his friend, "Smoking has already made you contented with yourself, and you have lost your ambition. I want to "WHITE HORSE" is the brand most favoured by Scotsmen and they are the greatest connoisseurs of whisky. Could you make a better choice when choosing whisky for yourself?

"WHITE HORSE" is Real Old Scotch. First matured and then blended, it is again matured and reblended, so that the whisky becomes properly married. This marrying of "WHITE HORSE" is a very lengthy process and the result is a right noble spirit of subtle and distinctive aroma and bouquet, soft, smooth and very pleasing to the palate, without a trace of kick or bite. As a heart tonic and digestive "WHITE HORSE" stands supreme.

225,000,000 BUSHEL CROP

Ottawa, July 9.—Andrew Cairns, statistician for the wheat pool, gave from "225,000,000" to 250,000,000 bushels as an "optimistic" estimate of the wheat crop for all Canada this year, when he appeared before the agricultural committee of the House of Commons today.

Last year the estimate had been 274,000,000 with about 365,000,000 realized.

"GP" Tubes are Circle-Built

When a "GP" Circle-Built Tube is inflated, the stretch of the rubber is evenly distributed all around the tube . . . No wrinkles or creases can possibly form on the inside circumference.

Circle-Built Tubes conform perfectly to the shape of the casings when inflated. They are full moulded and cured in a complete circle and are, therefore, in their natural position when inflated in a tire, without stretch or distortion. This overcomes the tendency to rip when punctured.

Many Visiting Officials

The following out-of-town officials have been selected to assist in conducting the events at the Sportsfest here on August 11 and 12, and have accepted the appointments: Miss Mabel Ray (Toronto); His Honor Judge J. A. Jackson (Lethbridge); C. E. Cheesman, Lyle Holland and E. D. Caldwell (Cardston); J. Walker (Raymond); S. G. Bannan (Blairmore); W. E. Payne, K.C. (Red Deer); P. H. Thibault (Stettin); twelve Edmontonians and eight Calgaryans. These officials are all coming entirely at their own expense—all of which gives an inkling of the widespread interest being taken in the Dominion Championships at Crossfield?

There is every prospect of two entries being received this week from Crossfield, Alberta. The "dope" has it that these two girls have attained "marks" better than the existing Dominion records in jumping events.

Indications also are that young ladies from Innisfail and Red Deer will compete, and a request for entry for blankets was received from Claresholm over the weekend. At least two entries are assured from Medicine Hat in the women's events.

Lord Burghley Has His Say

Betty Taylor will be one of the representatives of the Hamilton Olympic Club. She appeared at the British Empire Games last year and won the 60 metres hurdle championship of Canada. Lord Burghley, world champion hurdler, of England, witnessed her performance and was extremely enthusiastic, stating that Betty has as good "form" in hurdling as any of the splendid feminine hurdlers overseas—and Burghley knows his hurdling.

A Small Town, But Some Talent

There is every probability that New Liskeard, a small town in the wilds of Northern Ontario, will loom big at the August 11-12 drama here. P. R. Craven, president of the Alberta Club, of that burg, writes that he expects a team of at least four, if not more, athletes of the fair sex, to be well to the front in the going. One member of the team, Miss Mary Vandervelt, at a meet in Montreal last year, ran second to Stella Walsh, of Cleveland, world champion, in the 100 metre event, and took third place in the world's greatest runner the same day. Three other girls of the team finished "inside the money" in the events of the National Championships last year. Some talent, we'll say!

Saskatchewan Girls Coming

A Canadian Press dispatch from Regina to the daily press yesterday, states that "When the Canadian women's track and field championships are contested in Wetaskiwin, Alberta, in August, at least three Southern Saskatchewan girls will be definitely among those present. Miss Margaret Beattie of Yorkton, Miss Jeanne Shuttleworth of Fort Qu'Appelle, and Miss Von Der Heyde of Lipton, have entered in the intermediate, senior and junior divisions respectively, both in the sprints and jumps. All three girls shone on May 25 at the annual sports at Fort Qu'Appelle. Miss Beattie showed great promise by sweeping the boards and capturing all four events for the fair sex. Their respective townpeople are undertaking to send them to the Dominion meet, according to H. George, Lipton sportsman, who is responsible for their entry."

Hope to See Records

Several girls will represent the Altomah Athletic Association, Calgary, in various events, including the Women's Relay. A communication says: "Our girls will be out to win and try to break some of the records." A number of entries will also be made in the Boys' Championships by this club.

High River Girls Interested

They have an idea down High River way that there is some good talent among the feminine sex of that district and application has been made for a quantity of entry blanks. Sprinting and high jumping appears to be their strong suit.

A Dozen of 'Em from Cardston

The President and Secretary of the Cardston Amateur Athletic Association have definitely announced that they'll be here on the 11th and 12th. There'll be four auto loads from that town in the south country, conveying at least eleven, if not more, budding athletes. Another Cardston man, Lyle Holland, president of the Alberta Amateur Baseball Association, is slated to accompany the contingent.

Sure Going Over With a Bang!

Believe it or Not! Galling Gun W. "Bill" Matthews, "human megaphone extraordinary," gives us his word of honor that he'll be here on the 11th and 12th of August to officiate as Announcer on the occasion of the Championship Sportsfest. All of which means that things are bound to be kept buzzing every minute of the way. "Bill" says he just can't resist the invitation to reassert the voice both sonorous and melodious which swept over the vast throng at the Empire Games in Hamilton and the Wrigley Swim at Toronto like waves of the mighty ocean on a rampage. He without without a peer on the continent in the announcer's role. In other words, he's just ONE of the world's championships that will be here.

From Lethbridge and Taber
Lethbridge Olympic Club officials have asked for a supply of entry forms both for women's and boys' events. An entry was received on Tuesday from Taber, another point in Southern Alberta.

British Columbia Coming Strong
Fernie, B.C., has a number of fine young lady athletes, and judging from enquiries made this week from that place, some of Southern British Columbia's besties will be here arrayed in track and field attire.

The Secretary of the Cranbrook (Southern British Columbia) Amateur Athletic Association also writes that his Association expect to send a team of Cranbrook women for the senior relay and also competitors for sprinting events.

Relay race, girls—1, Emma Fontaine, Edmonton, team; 2, Orel Bye, Wetaskiwin, team; 3, Elsie van Valkenburg, Wetaskiwin, team.

Men's half mile race—1, Axel Karlson, Falun; 2, John Raine, Hobbema; 3, Roger Paton, Wetaskiwin.

L.O.B.A. race, Past and Present Masters—1, Mrs. Brown, Edmonton; 2, Mrs. J. Murray, Edmonton; 3, Mrs. A. Hartman, Camrose.

Married women's race—1, Mrs. R. Anderson, Wetaskiwin; 2, Mrs. Wm. Nelson, Wetaskiwin; 3, Mrs. Chappell, Wetaskiwin.

Interpreting the races were the grandstand attractions staged by Jean and Robert George, with tap numbers; the two Shirley girls of Camrose in athletic stunts, and a Chinese umbrella number by three Camrose girls.

The baseball tournament in connection with the celebration was a very interesting affair. The first game was played in the forenoon, when Wetaskiwin defeated Leduc by a score of 8-2. The afternoon game between Ponoka and Camrose was the centre of attraction of a very large crowd, the play going eleven innings before Ponoka succeeded in breaking the tie, the final score being 7-6. The final game between Ponoka and Wetaskiwin was not finished, being called in the fourth inning on account of rain.

The umpire of the games was J. J. Shuster of Mead Creek, who kept the play well in hand. It is expected that the final game for first money will be played on Wednesday evening.

In the horseshoe tournament, the winners were: 1st, C. Schmidt, J. Bures, Ponoka; 2nd, E. Merner, Chris. Wetaskiwin; 3rd, E. Whitfield and Emberton, Wetaskiwin. A football game between Wetaskiwin and Lacombe also took place in the evening, resulting in a win for Wetaskiwin by the score of 6-1.

The big day was concluded by a most enjoyable novelty dance in the Elks' hall in the evening. Excellent music was furnished by the Novelty Boys' Orchestra of Edmonton. The winners of the prizes were as follows: 1st prize, wrist watch, Sandy Hugh Dunlop, Coleman; 2nd, ladies' Hugh Dunlop, Coleman; 2nd, ladies' travelling case, Mrs. C. Mason, Wetaskiwin, ticket sold by Mrs. A. MacFarlane; 3, Scheafers' fountain pen, E. Whitfield, Wetaskiwin, ticket sold by Martha Erickson. The sellers of the lucky tickets will each receive a $250 gold piece.

ALBERTA'S CATTLE FOR BRITISH SHOW

Camrose, July 11.—Hill Brothers, prominent Camrose district farmers and stockmen, will exhibit their herd of prize two-year-old steers at the famous Birkhead, England, livestock show.

Arrangements for the exhibition and shipment of the cattle was made as a result of a request by the provincial government, and J. Moodie of the provincial department of agriculture, will take care of the stock on the trip to and from England.

MOB BATTLES CITY POLICE IN EDMONTON

Edmonton, July 10.—Seventeen men were taken into custody by the police, Thursday afternoon, 16 of them in a pitched battle in front of the police station when between 500 and 600 Communists demanded the release of their leader, Jack Nicholson, arrested at the Market Square a few minutes before.

Two policemen and their faces marked as a result of flying fists but there were no other casualties. The accused were arraigned in police court Friday morning.

Fists and batons were used freely by the officers in clearing the street in front of the police station of the Communists. A brick was hurled at a police station window but it fell short and hit the casing.

WINFIELD

The chief news item this week is about our second annual U.F.A. picnic, held Saturday, July 11, in Winfield. The rainy weather of the past week certainly spoiled many of the committee's arrangements, but at least Saturday itself was a beautiful day. A good program of races, jumping, etc., was put on, and then the ball games were very good. The Berton-Winfield game, with a score of 16-12, pleased us all, because our boys had no practice and did very well. The girls ball game ended in a tie. Later Berton played Nelspur team. The dance was well patronized and altogether it was a very successful event.

The new store in the hall, opened its doors for business on Saturday. We are glad to welcome Mr. and Mrs. Husbard and their two charming daughters, Misses Lenora and Richard, into our midst.

WM. IRVINE, M.P., CRITICISES TWO CENT STAMP ON CHEQUES

The following is a report from Hansard of the speech made by Wm. Irvine, M.P. for Wetaskiwin, during the discussion in the House on the stamp tax on small cheques:

Mr. Irvine: I wish to extend to the Minister of Finance a plea in connection with the two cent stamp on cheques and I may say that in doing so I am merely stating the representations of the people of my constituency.

Last Thursday at the town of Leduc I attended the annual United Farmers of Alberta convention in the constituency I have the honour to represent, and the matter of the two cent tax was one of the items with which the convention dealt. May I say to the Minister of Finance that the people in that constituency fully appreciate the necessity for securing revenue for the country. I think they also fully appreciate the fact that they have to pay their share, and I believe they are willing to do so. I think also that at least in imagination they have some idea of the difficulties which the Minister of Finance must face in trying fairly to tax all the people.

If one class secures an exemption to any extent other classes have an equal claim and no doubt will make such claims. If the Minister of Finance listens to all claims very soon he would have no revenue at all. The people in my constituency appreciate that fact. It is because we think that in connection with this particular tax a certain class of farmers are being discriminated against that I now expect to the Prime Minister this plea.

If my remarks are not well founded, I shall not expect my right hon. friend to pay any attention; if they are, I should hope that he would at least give the matter some consideration.

It is the conviction of the small farmers who are shipping cream, butter and other dairy products two, three or four times a week that a two cent stamp on the small credit slips or cheques that they receive bears too high a proportion to their small incomes. Many of these cheques are for 60, 65, 7

Ottawa Weekly Letter

(By W. Irvine, M.P. for Wetaskiwin)

The greater part of this week in Parliament has been occupied with the consideration of the Bill to provide for a new Tariff Board. The old Tariff Board was an advisory body appointed by the administration, to be in sympathy with the administration, and to be discharged at the will of the administration. Its function was to investigate any application for tariff revision which the Minister of Finance might desire investigated.

The present Government abolished the old Tariff Board and undertook to establish a new Board, which would be strictly a fact-finding body and more in the nature of a Court of Justice. This body is to be appointed under Statute for a period of ten years, and will be expected to act in a judicial capacity whether or not it should be in sympathy with the policy of the administration in power.

The main provisions of the Statute in respect to the organization of the new Tariff Board are as follows: The Board shall consist of three members, one of which shall be the chairman; the term of office shall be, as aforesaid, ten years; the Governor-General-in-Council may discharge any or all of the members on the ground of incapacity or misbehaviour. The duties of the Board shall be, in brief, to make enquiry, under a question of the Minister, as to the prices and cost of raw materials of transportation in Canada and elsewhere; to discover the cost of production and what increases or decreases may be required in tariffs to equalize the differences in the cost of production; to find out the cost, efficiency and conditions of labour, including the health of employees, etc., in Canada and elsewhere; to discover the prices received by producers, manufacturers, wholesalers, retailers and other distributors and in general to discover the facts in respect to all conditions and factors which affect or enter into the cost of production and the price to the consumers in Canada, and to examine all the conditions affecting production, manufacturing cost and price in Canada as compared with other countries, and to report to the Minister. The Board shall have power to summon witnesses, take evidence, and to compel the production of documents, and finally, the report of the Board in respect to investigations which may be authorized must be presented to Parliament, accompanied by all the evidence taken in each case.

The Opposition led a strong attack against the measure. Their first objection was that the Board should not be appointed for ten years but that its personnel should be dismissable at the will of the administration at any time. They argued that it was essential that such a body should be in sympathy with the policy of the administration. The Government countered with the argument that there was no need or use for a Tariff Board which existed to find the sort of information which the administration desired it to find, that to be of any service to the Nation the Board must be non-partisan and find the facts irrespective of what they may be, and in all matters to deal in a scientific rather than a partisan manner. It was further contended by the Government the only way to obtain such a body was to appoint them for ten years, leaving them free of any fear of being dismissed by an administration which might desire facts to be other than they were.

The Opposition further objected to the Bill on the ground that to appoint a body of this kind to deal with fiscal matters was a usurpation of the rights and powers of Parliament. Mr. Bennett countered that there was no ground for any such objection, since the Minister of Finance was responsible to Parliament for any action which he might take arising out of the findings of the Board.

The final objection of the Opposition was that anyone desiring an alteration of tariffs should be at liberty to make application direct to the Tariff Board and not to the Minister, as the Bill provides.

The Prime Minister, in replying to an amendment giving expression to that view answered it by saying, first, that the old Tariff Board, organized by the Liberal Government in 1926, made exactly the same provisions in respect to applications as the present measure, namely, the Board investigated only such cases as were requested to be investigated by the Minister, and second, in a sweeping and unanswerable argument Mr. Bennett pointed out that the Opposition, which had been contending throughout the entire discussion that the Bill provided for the usurpation of the powers of Parliament, had now moved an amendment which did that very thing, for the powers of Parliament were safeguarded in the Bill through the fact that the Minister must accept responsibility to Parliament for all applications which he submits to the Board, and were applicants to go over the head of the Minister to the Board, then indeed Parliament would have no authority over the institution of its creation.

After several days of very keen and at times heated debate, the Bill finally passed its third reading, and goes to seek its fate in the Senate.

The tariff revisions of the last Budget are now before the Committee of the Whole in the form of a Bill. It is understood that the Opposition has decided to make a protest against the alterations in a general way, not to protest against each detail of the Bill, thus facilitating the more speedy end of the Session.

Last night the Right Honourable W. L. Mackenzie King, leader of the Opposition, led a vigorous attack against the Government fiscal policy, as did also some of his lieutenants. These were as vigorously replied to by the Prime Minister and his supporters. It is generally expected that the debate on this matter will not last much longer, and that the Session will end in about two weeks time.

The Beauharnois enquiry still proceeds, and the report of the Committee is expected to reach Parliament about the end of next week. So far there have been no startling disclosures beyond the fact that Senator McDougall, according to members of the Company giving evidence, was associated with the project as early as 1923, and therefore this testimony was at variance with the statement of the Senator made on the Senate floor a few weeks ago. Up to the present the signs are that nothing is likely to happen to the Company, but that there may be political repercussions which may result in a criticism of the previous administration for having granted the present water-power rights to the Beauharnois by Order-in-Council, instead of first securing the sanction of Parliament. However, this is only a guess, and we must wait another week at least for the findings of the Committee.

the cause of temperance, which also so dearly loved needed her most, especially in our own beloved Canada. But we fancy she would quote "Is my hand shortened that it cannot redeem?"

She gave her capable self unstintingly to the task of teaching the basic principles of the objective of our organization — world sobriety, world morality and the universal outlawry of war. A policy which many of us have heard emphasized by this remarkable woman was co-operation with all temperance and social welfare organizations.

Perhaps at the present time we may best honor the memory of this Provincial, Dominion, World leader by taking heed to her parting message found in the closing of her last monthly letter in "White Ribbon Tidings": "Many of our Union will not meet during the summer months, but our members need never call a truce in their war against the custom of social drinking and in their efforts to disseminate truth regarding the benefits of total abstinence."

HEAVY INVESTMENTS IN ALBERTA SAVINGS CERTIFICATES

With gross deposits totalling $1,433,775, and net amounting to $1,004,010, the provincial savings certificates branch in June did the largest volume of business in any single month since 1920, according to Hon. R. G. Reid, Provincial treasurer. This splendid showing was regarded in financial circles as being an indication that the economic depression has passed its low level mark and that money is beginning to once more circulate more freely. In addition to the fine showing for June, each of the first five months of the current year has shown a surplus in deposits over withdrawal, a condition prevailing only in two years previously, namely in 1920 and 1927. There is now on deposit a net total of about $13,000.

000 in savings certificates. The new business for the first six months of the current year is represented by 745 new accounts of both private individuals and business companies, while many old accounts have been responsible for increased business.

Despite Depression, C.W.N.A. Holds a Successful Convention

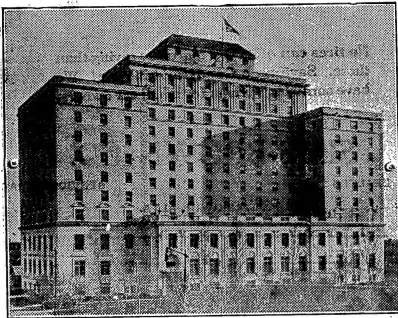

The editor, and wife returned home a few days ago from attending the annual convention of the Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association held at Regina on July 2nd and 3rd. They also spent the week-end at Banff and Lake Louise. It would therefore be of interest to make some reference to the trip and record some of the observations which were made. Notwithstanding the depression in the vicinity of Regina owing to the fact that there has been two crop failures prior to this year, it was very pleasing to notice that the citizens of Regina have the true western hospitable spirit, and almost everyone is talking about what will take place when they receive a crop and when the general conditions are adjusted.

On the sight-seeing trip through the City, the party was taken to the new building where the World's Grain Exposition will be held next year. This is a very fine building, costing approximately $250,000 and is so arranged that there will be over one and one-half miles of frontage when the exhibits of the world are shown next year.

Convention Headquarters
The annual meetings of the convention have become history. So also has the gracious Hotel Saskatchewan, in which they were held this year, for nobody who stayed at this modern and popular hostelry is likely to forget.

Towering above all other buildings in its neighborhood, located on one of the best sites in the city, on Victoria avenue, covering the block between South and Cornwall streets, facing on the park, the hotel is both central and handy to the station of the Canadian Pacific Railway, being only a few minutes' walk from it. The first two stories above street level are faced with Tyndal stone, the balance of the structure being of grey brick, trimmed with Tyndal. The centre of the Victoria Avenue frontage carries simplified Corinthian columns for two stories, with arched windows between. Stone belts mark the third and ninth floors, while the tenth carries a stone cornice. A copper cornice surmounts the higher central section of the building.

Entrances from both Victoria Avenue and South street lead to the main rotunda, which is of Spanish character, through which the dining and tea-rooms are reached, the former being in the Italian style, as is the grill-room, which is reached from an ante-chamber, leading from the main foyer. The first floor includes both private guest rooms and a spacious lounge and also the hotel's ball room, in George Adams style, and equipped with a stage for concerts and entertainments, which was the actual scene of the Association's meetings. A large private dining room, with dividing doors, permitting its being made into a series of small committee rooms, was also found very useful. The second floor comprises a number of sample rooms, while the eight upper floors have 252 bedrooms, each with private bath. In the basement, the coffee-shop, billiard room, and C.P.R. telegraph and ticket office are found.

Beautiful Banff

In marked contrast to mile after mile of prairie, dotted with prosperous towns and settlements, viewed from the Canadian Pacific's main transcontinental line, Banff, in the glorious Canadian Rockies, stands out among the summer resorts of the world, with the palatial Banff Springs Hotel as the centre of all its activities.

Here, from the four corners of the earth, come travellers, holiday-makers, mountaineers, horsemen, golfers, and seekers after the beauties of nature. They come confidently, nor are they disappointed; for there is something for everyone at Banff and "something to do" all the time.

The great hotel, in Scottish baronial style, ranks among the foremost hostelries of the American continent in accommodation, comfort and service. Large airy bedrooms, with private baths; spacious public rooms, excellent cuisine and unobtrusively efficient servants go a long way to making the guest wonder how such things can be in the heart of this mountain range, seemingly on the very fringe of civilization. It is a picturesque spot, 4,625 feet above sea level, the snow of the mountain-tops, and the scurrying waters of the Bow and Spray Rivers alike reflecting the sunshine in a myriad of glistening jewels. The architecture of the hotel blends perfectly with the setting and its many amusements, all starting from the hotel grounds, assure busy days for its guests.

Excellent tennis courts are available for devotees of that game; there is a championship golf course, known throughout Canada as the scene of the annual competition for the Prince of Wales trophy; real cowboys are ready to hand to take out parties on horseback expeditions, or to organize and guide trail rides of any length and duration through the mountains. Another picturesque touch is added by the Stoney Indians, whose services either as archery instructors, or caddies or as links, are always available.

So a health-giving day full of exercise is assured, and at its close, or during a refreshing pause before lunch, two beautiful swimming pools are at the disposal of visitors. One of these is filled with naturally warm sulphur water, while the other is of the normal bathing variety, furnishing a cooling contrast. Dancing in the evening leads the busy visitor to rest giving sleep.

Extending the Helping Hand

Saskatchewan's Resources
In 1881 in the whole region which now comprises the provinces of Saskatchewan and Alberta there were 5,678 acres sown to wheat which gave the respectable yield of 119,444 bushels. By 1928 this had increased within the boundaries of Saskatchewan alone, to an area of 13,790,854 acres with a production of 321,215,000 bushels.

In 1898, seven years before provincial establishment, the civil services of the whole North West Territories consisted of 34 persons all told.

Saskatchewan has the finest trout fishing and wild fowl shooting to be found anywhere in the world. Has large and valuable deposits of copper, nickel, gold, silver, platinum, iron, talc glass sands and other minerals. Has a forest belt 100 miles deep extending across the province from east to west. Has more telephones per capita than any other country in the world except Sweden. Is third province in the Dominion in population. Has won the World's Wheat Championship Sweepstakes eleven times out of nineteen times shown. Has won the World's Clydesdale Championship nine times out of eleven times shown. Has the most remarkable hen in the world. Her name is Lady Victorine and under observation at the University she laid an egg for every day of the year with the exception of seven out of the eight public holidays when she rested from her labours. Has a Clydesdale horse that won the Grand Championship of America for three consecutive years, a feat never before accomplished on the continent. Produced over 300,000,000 bushels of wheat in one year. Grows more than one half of the wheat grown in Canada. Has over 8,000 miles of operating railway. Has an estimated net worth of about sixty billions of dollars. Has the major portion of the world's supply of natural sodium sulphate. Has the most extensive and most valuable clay deposits in Canada.

Saskatchewan is spending about fifteen millions of dollars for education. It has a noble University and educational establishments unsurpassed in any country of a similar age. Any child in Saskatchewan within reach of a post office can obtain secondary education.

Ed. Stevens had been out from England two years and had not made money enough to pay for the passage of his wife and two children. Things had been bad in the Old Land and he had decided to come to Canada to try and make a new home for them; and after working for a farmer for a year just outside Regina, where he had been able to save a few dollars, he thought he would try and get a farm of his own; but it was quite a proposition to tackle without much money. One day during the previous year's harvest he had met Ed. Kemp, who worked on the next farm, and a strong friendship sprang up between them. Kemp had come out on his own and bright visions of the future which he had imparted to his fiancée, who was patiently, or rather impatiently, waiting until he should tell her that she could come out to marry him.

The two men had heard of a good half-section farm to rent about 50 miles north, with good buildings, and that winter they had taken over the place and had arranged with the owner to work the place with him, on shares with the option of buying. As they were both of the type who would do their best to make good, the crops were sown and they were busily engaged breaking a 40-acre piece of prairie for the next year's seeding.

The two men sat down at the table and ate their supper, but both men seemed very nervous and silent. "Everything O.K. over at Fleming's?" Bert asked Kemp.

"Sure," answered Bert.

"Well, what are you so quiet about?"

"Oh, I don't know, when I saw their home over there, I thought how I would like Betty and the kids here, but we must wait until we see what the crops look like."

Bert Stevens had been out from England two years and had not made money enough to pay for the passage of his wife and two children. Things had been bad in the Old Land and he had decided to come to Canada to try and make a new home for them; and after working for a farmer for a year just outside Regina, where he had been able to save a few dollars, he thought he would try and get a farm of his own; but it was quite a proposition to tackle without much money. "No, I don't think so," said Bert, "except to see if there is any mail for us. Say I go in with you if you are not going to have too much of a load coming out."

"Oh, all I am going in for is to get a few things at the drug store that the wife wants for the kids; you had better come, too, Ed."

So the three men drove through the beautiful summer evening the seven miles to get the mail and things that the drug store supplied.

"At the Post Office, which was a general store as well, the post mistress, Mrs. Fry, said as they walked in, 'English mail came in today and there are letters for you.' Both men went out of the store quickly to read their letters from home."

"Well, how's your family, Bert?" asked Ed.

"Oh fine, thanks, but I don't like my wife's idea of leaving the children at home alone while she tries to get a job to earn some money to buy the tickets to come out to me; my this money business is a terror, isn't it?"

"Sure is," said Ed, "especially when you haven't got any. Phyllis wants to know if I am sure the harvest will be good, can you beat that?"

"Well, it sounds as if she still wants to marry you," said Bert, "but there is no accounting for tastes is there?" as he dodged a punch that Ed. tried to land.

"Hello Bill!" said Bert to the Canadian National station agent, "how's tricks?"

"I can," said Bert, "but I don't know about Ed."

"Say, another crack out of you tonight," said Ed, "and they'll be calling an ambulance; but fooling apart, is there some way of getting the money loaned to bring my girl out?"

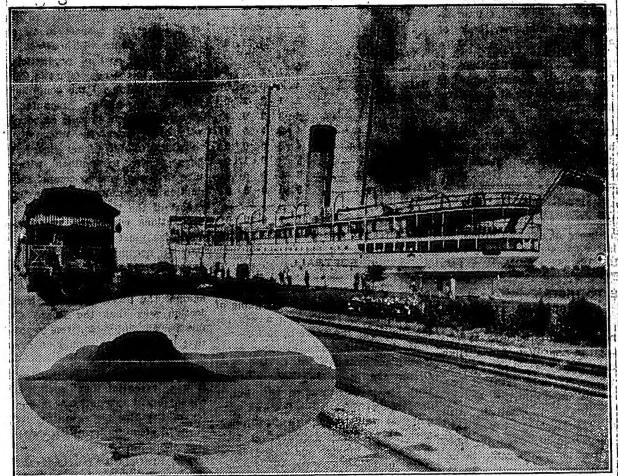

"Say, if you will listen, I will tell you. The British Dominions Emigration Society, of 485 McGill Street, Montreal, is 50 years old, and it lends money to Britshers to bring their wives and families out; you repay the money back to them at so much a month. No charge is made, no interest to pay; the whole thing is done freely by the Society. It's only aim is to try and make Canada more British, so that applies to you, Bert."

"But I haven't a wife and family to bring out," replied Bert.

"You can bring your girl out the same way," answered the agent. "Here are the forms to fill in and here is a pen," handing the pen to Bert.

"Say, Bill, haven't the Canadian National Railways got two pens?" asked Ed, and he was immediately supplied with one and the applications were duly filled in and signed by both men.

On The Great Lakes

"Well, kind of quiet, but there are quite a number of cars of wheat moved out on the freight today. I think things are going to get better pretty soon now. How much breaking have you got done?"

"Oh, about 28 acres and 12 to go. Ed. has been at it today. I was over helping Jack Fleming fill a pig this afternoon; he drove us in tonight, and we are just waiting until he gets one or two things."

"Say Bill, can't you give Ed. a ticket to bring his girl from Scotland for I am going to have a sick man on my hands if she doesn't come soon."

Ed. flushed and said, "It is all right right for you to laugh, but do you know, Bill, at supper tonight he looked like a dying duck in a thunderstorm, and now that he has got a letter from his wife he will move more than ever tomorrow. It's him you need to give a ticket to; three in fact, if there are any being given away."

"I don't know about giving the tickets away, but I can get you the money for the tickets," replied the agent.

"You can!" exclaimed Ed. "Just introduce me to the man who lends it."

"Just a minute," said Bill, "I've got a paper on it somewhere. Yes, here it is; lend you the money without interest or any charges, if you are the man who can hear to have his character investigated."

"What do we do now?" asked Ed. "You had better let them know at home what you have done," replied the agent, "and tell them to expect a letter from the London office which they must answer as soon as they receive it, and you will hear from the Montreal office as soon as they receive these forms from me."

"Say, Bill, said Bert, "if this goes through as you say, I don't know how I shall be able to thank you sufficiently."

"Don't mention it Bert, I know how you feel, for I should be pretty lonely here at this station if it wasn't for my wife and baby. Goodnight boys."

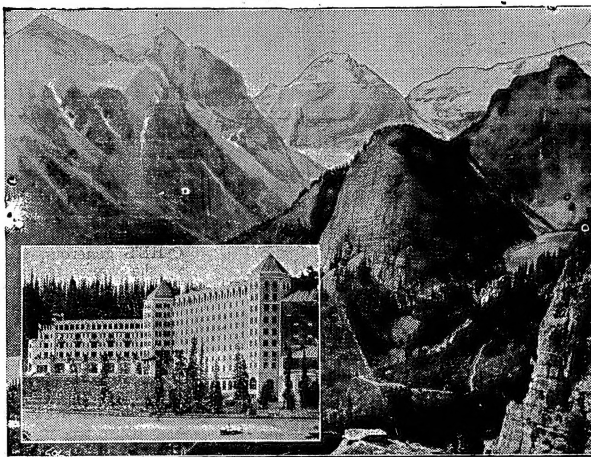

They met Fleming coming up to the station, "I wondered where you fellows had gone; thought you had started to walk home. Are you ready to go home now?"

"We sure are," said Bert, "and I think you did us a better turn than you knew when you drove us into town tonight," and Fleming heard all about the prospects of Mrs. Stevens and the children coming out and the Mrs. Kemp-to-be. That night two letters were written, one to England and the other to Scotland.

The next day at dinner as they were resting before the afternoon's work, talking over the business of the previous evening, and the splendid appearance of the crops, Bert said, "Last night I got a letter from a fellow in Vancouver whom I met on

The Mother of Seven Children Used It for Diarrhoea

Mrs. Ray Drinkwater, R.R. No. 4, Hagersville, Ont., writes: "I am the mother of seven children, and last summer one of them, 17 months old, was taken very sick with diarrhoea, and I thought she was going to die. My husband went 7 miles to see what my sister had given her baby, and he came home with a bottle of Dr. Fowler's Kidney and Bladder Pills. I gave the child a few doses and she was soon well again. My other children also had diarrhoea at the same time and I gave them 'Dr. Fowler's' with the same results."

Health Service
OF THE
Canadian Medical Association

Edited by
GRANT FLEMING, M.D., — ASSOCIATE SECRETARY

THE PUBLIC HEALTH

The Ministry of Health in England publishes each year a very interesting and most readable report on The State of the Public Health. We refer to this because it seems to be rather appropriate that, on Dominion Day, we should consider the state of the public health in Canada.

We venture to predict, although it is sometimes dangerous to prophesy, that, of all that will appear in our newspapers and in the public addresses, which will be made on the birthday of the Dominion, little or no mention will be made of public health.

This is not because the people are not interested in health, because we have evidence every day that they are. It is rather because we are, in general, drawn to talk of material things, of natural resources, of manufacturing plants, and of increased wealth. Yet all of these are of little or no value to the man, or woman, or nation without health. The nation's most important concern is the public health, because the nation is made up of living persons, not of minerals or water-power.

We are not suggesting that health is an end in life. Health is the stepping-stone by which we achieve more and serve better than we could without health.

Just as this is true of the individual, it is equally so of the nation. The foundation for national prosperity and happiness is the health of those individuals who make up the nation.

In order to succeed, Canada must be able to compete successfully with other nations, if not to excel them. In order that she may do so, the Canadian people must equal, if not excel the people of other lands in physical and mental fitness. It is because we believe this goal can be attained that we have confidence in the future of our country.

The lives and health of Canadian mothers must be protected. The child born in Canada must be safeguarded so that he may be given his chance. We are not all born with the same capacity for physical and mental development. The country should provide each citizen with an opportunity for the full development of the capabilities with which he is born.

In Canada we see many persons suffering and dying from diseases which can be prevented. Our maternal death rate is high, as is also our infant mortality in many places.

Let there be less talk of what might be and more attention paid to the immediate problem of public health. No country can succeed unless it tries to solve the problem of preventable sickness and death and the poverty and dependency which grow out of these.

Questions concerning Health, addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 154 College Street, Toronto, will be answered personally by letter.

MEDICINE HAT CHURCH BURNED

Fifth Avenue United Church in Medicine Hat, the largest church in that city, was destroyed by fire last Thursday night, with a loss exceeding $100,000, with only $40,000 insurance. The church was built in 1912 at a cost of $90,000, and the organ cost an additional $15,000. It has a seating capacity of 1200. The fire was discovered just before 9 o'clock by Rev. E. T. Scragg and a number of the church officers, who were holding a meeting in the basement. At 11 o'clock the large brick edifice was declared a total loss.

The boat coming over. He is working in a mill, not getting very high pay and he says it is going to be some time before he can save enough to bring his wife out, and I think I will write and tell him what we have done for her too sends home all he can to keep them going and he might as well have his wife come out on the same boat.

The harvest is approaching, the prospects are splendid, and a wire has just come from Montreal saying that Mrs. Stevens and the two children have left Montreal and also Miss Wilson. The two men have rearranged the farm-house, and everything has been made as cosy as possible. "Say Ed, have you made any arrangements with the person about being married?"

"I didn't think that was necessary. I must go into town tonight to see him. Where shall we have it, in town?" asked Ed, looking very perplexed.

"What's wrong with asking him to come out here?"

Just then Jack Fleming motored up to the door. "Good night boys, my wife wants to know if you and Miss Wilson will be married at our house when she arrives. We have lots of room and the wife would get a great kick out of putting on a wedding spread."

"Why, we were just talking about that and decided to have it here; but I think it would be nice to have the wedding at your house."

"What do you say, Bert?"

"It's O.K. with me; it's your wedding and not mine."

"Well Jack," replied Ed, "for new neighbors you are certainly treating me fine. Please tell Mrs. Fleming we will be there; but would she mind if I asked the station agent and his wife, for if it had not been for Bill there would not have been a wedding for a long time to come."—Canadian National Magazine.

COLLECT SEEDS FROM YOUR FLOWERS

(Experimental Farmers Note)
Everybody loves flowers and every spring there is a rush to secure the necessary seed. One of the difficulties is obtaining seed of the particular kind or color, which bloomed last year. In many cases this can be solved by collecting seed of your flowers after bloom has finished.

Where seed is harvested from a few plants it can be cleaned at time of collecting, in most cases, by rolling between the hands and blowing out the chaff. There will be a number which will be on the green side when autumn frosts appear, in which cases the plants are cut off, wrapped in porous material, and hung in a ventilated room until thoroughly dry. These can be threshed at leisure.

Out of approximately four hundred varieties of flowers grown on the Dominion Experimental Station, Scott, seed of over forty varieties is collected each year. Collecting commences about the end of July with

NEWSPAPER LAWS

Excerpts from Newspaper Law, printed for the benefit of any reader who may have mistaken ideas regarding laws.

1. A postmaster is required to give notice by letter (returning the paper does not answer the law) if the subscriber does not take the paper out of the post office and state the reason for its not being taken. Any neglect to do so makes the postmaster responsible to the publisher for payment.

2. If any person orders his paper discontinued he must pay all arrears or the publisher may continue to send it until payment is made and collect the whole amount whether the paper is taken from the office or not. There can be no legal discontinuance until payment is made.

3. Any person who takes a paper from the post office, whether directed to his name or another, or whether he subscribes or not, is responsible for payment.

4. If a subscriber orders his paper stopped at a certain time and the publisher continues to send it, the subscriber is bound to pay for it if he takes it out of the post office. This follows the principle that a man must pay for what he uses.

Lloydminster, July 13.—Tragedy in the midst of holiday celebrations brought death to two men and critical injuries to a third here Saturday evening as a passenger-carrying aeroplane plunged to earth, shortly before the close of Lloydminster's annual sports day program.

The dead are: William Bramhall, 22, Lloydminster.

Pilot Arthur "Mike" Bielby, 38, Saskatoon.

Injured: Albert Lang, 27, Erie district, near Lloydminster.

Flying at an altitude of about 1,200 feet, the small Waco biplane had circled the field where 2,500 people had gathered in the grandstand, and was nearly two miles distant from the crowd when it crashed.

A DAUGHTER'S TRAINING
Among the replies received in response to a request for a brief plan for training a daughter, a magazine received the following from a successful mother:

Teach your daughter to value a man, not by his wealth, looks or family, but by his character and what he himself has done.

Discourage her in looking upon men as suitors until she is at least 18. Give her an education and keep her employed part of the time during vacation.

Make her home pleasant, so that she will not be anxious to leave it for an inferior one.

Encourage her to attend church, Sunday school, club meetings and other places where the right kind of people may be met, urging her to be particularly careful in choosing her girl associates.

These are all excellent suggestions, even though they do not always secure the desired results, and the mother who follows them will have the satisfaction of knowing that she did her best to make her daughter's life happy and successful.

Late June and early July rains have greatly improved conditions in the drought area of Saskatchewan.

Hon. W. G. Buckle, minister of agriculture said Wednesday.

A SAFE INVESTMENT

If we were endeavoring to advertise a newspaper and secure subscriptions, we should make use of the fact that every newspaper pays its own way into the subscriber's home and really costs him nothing. The point is that it returns him more in dollars and cents than he pays for it. We cannot imagine a publication so worthless than some item of information in it, some bargain advertised or some service performed is not worth more to the subscriber in real money than the cost of his subscription.

Almost every newspaper puts money into the pockets of non-subscribers. This is continuously the case when the newspaper leads or supports any movement which brings trade to the town in which it is published. It is the case when the newspaper sponsors for local improvement—the spending of a dollar that two may grow in its place tomorrow.

The weekly newspaper, at two dollars a year costs the subscriber four cents an issue. We defy anyone to point out where the subscriber can spend four cents and get an equal amount of pleasure and real value. Four cents will not buy much of anything else, but it will buy the week's news of the community and supply other information and service that is likely to be worth many dollars to the reader. No other institution in the world expects so little and returns so much as does the weekly newspaper.—Collingwood Bulletin.

SHOWER HELD FOR BRIDE OF THIS WEEK

Mrs. Chas. Macdonald and Miss Rosella Bengtson were joint hostesses at a miscellaneous shower held at the home of the former on Friday evening, in honor of Miss Ruby Wagar, a bride of this week. The beautiful dining room was attractively decorated with blue and white streamers, the table being centred with a huge bouquet of peonies. An enjoyable evening was spent in games, after which a dainty lunch was served by the hostesses.

Here and There

The zoo at Toledo, Ohio, has secured a mammoth sturgeon captured in Lake St. Clair, Canada. The fish weighed 239 pounds and was sold to Toledo for $100.

Feeding bees on sugar and milk at the Government Experimental Farm at Agassiz, B.C., has resulted in an average of 23 pounds more honey than on ordinary diet. This may mean a further impetus to Canadian honey production.

Capital amounting to $600,000,000 is invested in the development of 13,000,000 horse power electrical energy in the province of Quebec. Throughout Canada electric power development investments total $1,400,000,000.

East and west of Suez as also in London, Berlin, Paris and other famous centres, canned and frozen salmon from British Columbia was successfully marketed last year. Most of the shipments went from Victoria.

Monday, August 10, has been officially set as the opening date of the fourth "Buyers' Week" to be held in Montreal. The first Buyers' Week brought 251 buyers from all over the continent to Montreal; the third brought 1,100 buyers, indicating the growing success of the plan.

Individual holders of Canadian Pacific Railway common stock numbered 21,138 on September 2, 1930, and by the 1st June, 1931, there were 24,772 holders, an increase of 13,634. This shows the growing popularity of this stock since its split into four new shares for one of the old stock.

Unity of all peoples who live on the shores of the Pacific was the object behind the recent visit to British Columbia and Alaska of the Portland, Ore., Chamber of Commerce who took a seven-day cruise on board Canadian Pacific steamer Princess Charlotte in northern waters.

Completing a coast-to-coast holiday trip, Viscount Duncannon, son of Canada's Governor-General, the Earl of Bessborough, and his cousin, the Hon. Arthur Fensholt, arrived in Vancouver over Canadian Pacific Lines from the east recently. They went on to a six-day trip of British Columbia waters aboard S.S. Princess Maquinna.

Ladies evidently also prefer blondes, judging by the decision of the Alpha Delta sorority who elected Miss Margaret Jensen, blonde beauty of Hunter College, New York, as the sisterhood's most beautiful bathing girl at the convention recently held at the Chateau Lake Louise, in the heart of the Canadian Rockies.

Effective July 1, the Toronto Terminal division of the Canadian Pacific Railway was merged with the Bruce division of the company, the combined divisions being known as the Bruce division. R. W. Scott was appointed superintendent with headquarters at Toronto.

Visiting the Canadian Rockies for the second time in forty years, Colonel R. Stanley, of Alverton, England, said he was astounded at the progress and development attained in that comparatively short period. He was a guest at the Banff Springs Hotel, which was not even thought of when he was here last as a guest of Lord Mount Stephen. (753)

Winnipeg, July 15.—City of Regina early Wednesday was cut off from the rest of the prairies when a violent electrical storm shattered power lines and disrupted telegraphic and telephone communication. The city was plunged into darkness when the main power house broke into flames, according to brief advices received here. City hall square, Winnipeg, will be closed in future to Red organizations.

Household Clearance

Many a prudent housewife has found it profitable to call upon The Wetaskiwin Times' Classified Ads. to effect a Household Clearance Sale.

In many homes there are stored away disused articles of household equipment, sewing machines, baby carriages, go-kart articles of clothing, furniture and personal belongings, all of which may be quickly turned into ready cash.

By taking advantage of The Times' Classified Ads. a ready market can be developed for all used articles that may have intrinsic value.

A Household Clearance Sale conducted through Times' Classified Ads. has been the means of ridding many a household of discarded articles.

Don't Cuss! Call us!

THERE'S NO NEED FOR THAT WORRIED LOOK ON YOUR FACE!

What's bothering you? Have you a car you want to sell? Are you making fruitless search for another job? Or possibly it's the other way about—do you need help? Can't you get a room in which to rest your weary bones? Perhaps the cook has left or the one you've got don't measure up to the standard?

Tell us what to do. Invest a few cents in a Times Classified Ad, and (talk) to the person you want or dropping around to see you within a few hours after we go to press.

Instead of working up a "raw meat" disposition should things go wrong, take the nearest telephone and call us up with copy for a "Classified."
